~Pat Cummings, D3football.com Mid-Atlantic Reporter

Bridgewater College has a nationally renowned football tailgate called “Stone Station.” Named because the lawn it resides for home games is across the street from President Stone’s home. What started as only a couple families five years ago, “Stone Station” is now a Saturday staple that brings together hundreds of fans every fall. The last three years, “Stone Station” attended all 33 games, which included a 597-mile trip to Georgia, a 508-mile trip to Indiana, and a 344-mile trip to Pennsylvania. Just as the coaching staff at Bridgewater is committed to providing you with the best game plan for winning, the fans are just as committed to supporting the players who wear the crimson and gold. Bridgewater is also only one of seven Division III schools in the country with a fan site devoted solely to its football team. BridgewaterFootball.com is updated daily during each season and frequently during the off-seasons. We hope you join the Bridgewater family and enjoy these perks that only few schools can say they have!
