Philips-Universität Marburg

Semester 1: early September to mid-December
Semester 2: early March to mid-June

LOCATION

Marburg is a beautiful city filled with Gothic churches and medieval quarters, and nearly 20,000 students study at Philips-Universität. Explore the connections between history and modernity in this accessibly-sized town that bursts with creativity, technology and culture!

PROGRAM DETAILS

Marburg offers an International Undergraduate Studies Program (IUSP), which allows a student to spend a semester studying intensive German language alongside a selection of regular university courses taught mainly in English. Students may choose from courses taught in a variety of fields, and no previous German language is required since the language courses are taught at the beginner, intermediate and advanced levels.

The program includes excursions to Berlin and other exciting, important historical sites as well as special evening lectures on cultural topics. IUSP excursions have taken students to places like Frankfurt, Berlin, Cologn, and Munich.

HOUSING, MEALS
AND OTHER INFORMATION

Students are housed in single rooms in residence halls and receive stipends that cover meals in the subsidized cafeteria or can be used to purchase groceries.

The university club sports program offers more than 30 different disciplines including numerous water sports at the university boathouses on the Lahn River and Eder Lake, as well as martial arts, yoga and Shiatsu. There is also a university-owned guesthouse that can be used for skiing and hiking trips in the Austrian Alps.
